SIXTY-SIXTH YEAR NO. 26.

CEDARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY, MAY 28, 1943

CONGRESSIONAL HAPPENINGS IN WASHINGTON

By CLARENCE J. BROWN
Member of Congress,
Seventh Ohio District

In a fifty minute address before a Joint Session of Congress, attended by the Cabinet and Supreme Court, Winston Churchill demonstrated fully the courage, ability and political sagacity that makes him an outstanding world leader. One of the greatest of modern orators, he drew repeated bursts of applause from his listeners. Yet, when his speech is reduced to cold print and carefully analyzed, it becomes apparent the only definite statement the Prime Minister actually made was to repeat his former promise that Great Britain would fight along side the United States against Japan until that outlaw nation is completely crushed. However, all in all, it was a great speech delivered by one of the world's most illustrious men.

Crowds surrounded the Capitol and lined Pennsylvania Avenue to get a glimpse of the British Prime Minister. Winston Churchill, as he made his way from the White House to the Capitol for his memorable address before Congress, the galleries were filled to overflowing. The Duke and Duchess of Windsor were seated in the front row of the diplomatic gallery, where they attracted much attention. Both their entrance and departure brought rounds of applause, and demonstrated their popularity, although Mr. Churchill in no way referred to their presence in his address. The Prime Minister of Canada, Mackenzie King, and British Marshal Wavell, were among the other distinguished guests present; while the rules of the House were suspended by order of the Speaker to permit Richard Wood, son of Viscount Halifax, British Ambassador to the United States, to be present on the floor of the House. Lt. Wood lost both legs in recent fighting in Africa, and is now in a wheel chair.

While of course no public or official announcement of any kind has been made, there is a definite impression here that the United Nations war effort will be materially speeded up as a result of the conference that have been going on the past two weeks between Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt, and British and American military and naval staffs. American production of war material is now at full flood. Ocean transportation continues to be a troublesome bottleneck, for the problem of delivering men and supplies to the various battlefronts of the world is still a very serious one, although rapidly increasing American construction of ships will soon bring marked betterment in the situation. The opening up of the Mediterranean, as a result of the Allied victory in North Africa, will save thousands of miles of travel, and weeks of time in the delivery of men and munitions to the Far East. Many observers here believe that as a result of the Churchill-Roosevelt conference, and the clearing of the Mediterranean, strong Allied action can be expected against the Japanese in Burma for the relief of China and for ultimate direct attack against Japan by air.

A special seven-man sub-committee of the House began an investigation Monday, of O. P. A., W. F. B., and other governmental agency orders which are believed may adversely affect private business and free enterprise unconstitutionally. The Committee, which was established under the Hare Resolution by a unanimous vote of the House, will ascertain whether purposeful attempts are being made, through such orders, to change business practices in such a way as to injure and destroy American free economy. The first matter presented at the hearing was the famous Hosiery Order—No. 330 of the Office of Price Administration, concerning which many retail merchants have been bitterly complaining. Orders restricting and standardizing the manufacture of underwear, work clothes, and other wearing apparel items, are also being investigated, and will be followed by public hearings on orders affecting production and sale of food, drugs, medicines and other necessities of life. Your own Representative in Congress, the humble writer of this column, is a member of the Special committee making these investigations.

The House last week passed the Navy Department Appropriation Bill for the coming fiscal year, beginning July 1st, calling for total appropriation of more than twenty-nine billion.

GREENE CO. TO BE HONORED ON BOND SALE

A special public ceremony will be arranged in Xenia for raising a "quota flag" and an "honor pennant," awarded Greene County for exceeding its assigned quotas in the recent second war loan campaign.

The awards, to be flown from the flag pole on the court house lawn, will arrive soon, Common Pleas Judge Frank L. Johnson, county war bond chairman, announces.

Although an official figure on the county's total bond sales was not contained in the letter, sent by M. J. Fleming, Cleveland, chairman of the war finance committee of the fourth Federal Reserve District, the pennant was earmarked for this county for "going over 150 per cent of the non-banking quota." This would amount to $1,785,000, Johnson said. The quota flag is for surpassing the local bond goal for citizens.

Doctor Says U. S. Can't Feed World

Lasting peace will be endangered if any American promise to feed the world after the war, asserts Dr. Jonathan Forman, editor of the Ohio State Medical Journal.

"All recent reports stress the shortage of food in this country," Dr. Forman told the Buckeye Republican Club last night. "Yet the world has come from a responsible government servant that we shall have to ration food to ourselves for years after the war to feed the people of the world."

"It is not only silly but dangerous to the lasting peace of the world to promise to feed the world after the war," Dr. Forman asserted the United States' normal granary always was one-third empty.

"In our best years," he said, "we raised about two-thirds enough food to set a decent table for our people—just a decent table, not the kind that nutrition experts feel is necessary to bring robust health and resistance to disease."

"If we all stop eating and gave all of our food to the other lands, which of course we could not do, we would be giving a sustaining diet to about 135,000,000 persons, and who is to feed the rest?"

Coupons 15, 16

To Be Used For Canning Sugar

Coupons Nos. 15 and 16, in War Ration Book One, each will be good for five pounds of sugar—for home canning—starting last Monday.

The Office of Price Administration abandoned a previously announced program under which home canners would apply to their local Ration Boards for sugar allotments.

OPA officials explained that families requiring more than ten pounds of sugar per person for home canning may apply to their local Ration Board for additional allowances.

The sugar-for-canning provision does not interfere with the regular sugar rationing program, the OPA said. A spokesman pointed out that Coupon No. 13 will be valid from June 1 to Aug. 15 for five pounds.

Farmers Want Higher Prices For Milk

Three co-operative milk marketing associations in the Cincinnati milk area have demanded higher prices for milk under the Department of Agriculture control. Class 1 milk of 4 per cent butterfat from $3.55 a hundred to $4 and class 2 grade from $2.65 to $3 a hundred. Dairyman say it is impossible to get a reasonable profit for milk with protein feeds at the present price.

Cemetery Management Makes Statement

In this issue is a statement that should be given consideration by not only lot owners in a local cemetery but to other cemeteries.

With the man-power situation what it is many cemeteries now have no regular sextons. This condition applies to cities as well as rural cemeteries.

The rainy season has made it impossible to keep the lawns mowed as in the past. With the labor shortage, cement bases could not be completed for Memorial Day.

Not many cemeteries this year will be found in perfect condition as in the past. Many will not be mowed at all. One Dayton cemetery now has 150 sheep to do part of the mowing.

Attention is called to the fact that monuments and headstones will be set as soon as labor is available. Persons having orders can settle with companies furnishing the stones with every assurance the work will be completed by the cemetery management just as soon as possible. The situation is the fault of no one person. It probably never was like this before.

Not long ago a burial was necessary in a neighboring cemetery. There was no sexton. There was no labor available. It was necessary for two village employees to volunteer to dig the grave for burial. Every community has its problems these hectic days.

Price Squeeze Held Threat To Supply Of All Meats

The Corn Belt Farm Dailies, live stock publications, has the following to say on the livestock and meat situation:

"The government the past few weeks has succeeded in forcing down the price of livestock to farmers, especially hogs."

"Solvency is a prerequisite to continued production. The farmer has no ambition to get rich out of the war, but he must be able to make ends meet to stay in business. Thus the pressure on livestock prices, at a time when costs are mounting rapidly, is beyond his understanding."

The publication charged that government officials have convinced themselves there will not be enough feed to fatten the present number of hogs on farms and have made it their goal to reduce hog numbers by cutting feed prices.

"How can they know this early how much feed there will be?" the publication asked. "It is going pretty far to play with the nation's food supply on the basis of guessing. The sensible thing would be to give the producer a price that encourages production, when the ration needs that production so sorely."

"Let the producer take the risk, if there is a risk. He is willing. If the producer has to sacrifice 200 hogs at 160 pounds because he runs short of feed, wouldn't that be better than not to have the hogs, just in case they could be fed out?"

Ohio Crops Cut By Excessive Wet Weather

Chief topic of conversation among Ohio farmers these days is the extent to which wet weather has reduced crop prospects.

John T. Brown, state director of agriculture, reported that excessive wet weather already had cut 1943 production of corn and soybeans to 80 percent of last years yield and sugar beets to 60 per cent.

Winter kill of wheat indicates 60 per cent of a normal crop, he added. The crop information, Brown said, was gleaned in a survey by official agricultural agencies, including the Ohio department of agriculture, Ohio State University, Ohio Agricultural extension service, Ohio experimental station, and certain federal units.

Brown observed in his report that "lack of seed potatoes for Victory gardens is very serious."

A "definite prospective shortage of protein for food threatens further curtailment of production of all livestock products," he added.

"On the optimistic side, however, he reported 'present pig production on par with 1942' but the feed situation may become serious."

VAYHINGER IS NEW PRESIDENT OF COLLEGE

By a unanimous vote of the members of the Board of Trustees of Cedarville College at the annual meeting last Friday, Ira D. Vayhinger, acting president since last October, was chosen president-elect and will be inaugurated some time this fall. Mr. Vayhinger came here from Chicago and for more than a year has been business manager and has been conducting an endowment campaign.

The board elected J. A. Finney, member of the law firm of Miller and Finney, Xenia, a graduate of the college, as chairman of the Board of Trustees to succeed Dr. Clyde Howard, Chicago.

President-elect Vayhinger served as Ohio director of the USO in 1941 and for eleven years was engaged in Y. M. C. A. work. He also was active in the field of church finance for eighteen years. He received a degree of bachelor of science from Morris Hill College, now Evansville, Ind., and took post graduate work at Oberlin Theological Seminary.

SMILE WHEN YOU SAY POTATO

A potato in days of yore—and not so very yore at that—was just a "spud". Calorie-conscious females gave them a wide berth. People have adapted them to many uses—whittled them down for stoppers, used them to plug leaks in kettles and drain pipes. In fact, spuds have always taken a lot of just plain kicking around.

Whoever heard of anyone treasuring a potato? Other vegetables made their seasonal debuts in a flurry of popularity. But never potatoes. No one ever rushed to the market to see if potatoes were in. They always were. No one gave them a thought. The housewife listed them at the end of her grocery order, as an afterthought—"oh, yes, and send me a peck of potatoes."

Everyone ate them, but they were no treat. Even new potatoes failed to evoke the enthusiasm inspired by other fresh vegetables in season. They were still just potatoes—the pennies of the vegetable currency.

Today people stand in line for those "pennies", eagerly hoarding the few they may get, tenderly carrying them home as if they were orchids, paring them with bated breath lest the knife slip. No longer are they referred to as spuds. They're Potatoes, if you please, spelled with a capital.

That's the way it is on the home front anyway. In the Army—well, that's another story. If you want to hear it, just ask the soldier on K. P. They're still spuds in his language.

—CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

And the income tax paid by the now hungry for "spuds" was used to pay potato growers not to grow "Potatoes".

FARMERS AGAINST NEW DEAL LEADERSHIP

Some time ago a poll of nationwide farmers was taken to test sentiment as to how many favored the nomination of Franklin D. Roosevelt for a fourth term. Six million farmers expressed their opinion and only 28 per cent approved another Roosevelt term. Fifty-one per cent registered opposition and six per cent had no opinion. What effect the war will have on the fourth term proposal is shown by 85 per cent that they would not be guided by any success of our armies.

Another test of sentiment is on the food conference at Hot Springs, Va. It is said 87 per cent of the farmers tested openly opposed the food conference and the manner in which it is being managed and that the farmers of this nation could not and would not try to feed not only our civilian population but the nations of the world—at the expense of the farmer or the American income taxpayer. Price ceilings are credited with turning farm sentiment against the food conference.

"HOLD THE LINE"—ROOSEVELT MYTH

John L. Lewis has whipped Franklin D. Roosevelt in his battle for a $2 increase for coal miners. The public that swallowed the Roosevelt "Hold the Line" speech as pure gospel certainly find themselves out on the end of the line. You will recall the famous Sunday night speech when Roosevelt was going to reduce the cost of living for all and stave off inflation by attacking the coal miners as aiding inflation and farm prices as bringing certain inflation. For that reason he informed the nation that all food (farm) prices would be rolled back. So far the farmer is the Roosevelt goat while organized labor continues to get what it wants.

The Roosevelt appointed War Board has wilted and gives Lewis about all he demanded. Thousands of other union laborers are now on strike for higher wages no matter what happens to the "Hold the Line" promise. The miners will get equal to an increase of about $10.50 each week. The public has been deceived. The American farmer suffered a drop of $3 a hundred on hogs and also a slump on cattle and lamb prices—to "Hold the Line". The bottom has dropped out of the poultry prices under ceiling prices. An outrageous lie has been forced on the farmer to hold the union vote. Uncontrolled floods and ceiling prices are the price city consumers will pay in the hunt for food to appease certain hunger. The farmer will continue to eat first.

NEW DEAL POLITICS AND THE WAR

Every now and then you hear the remark that if politics was taken out of the war we would be making more progress towards immediate victory. Such comment naturally comes from both sides of the political fence.

Where the start should be made to eliminate politics in the war, and there is no denial that such exists and to a large extent is the question. The New Deal is in control of the government and all agencies from the Supreme Court down to the AAA propaganda spreaders. One can say the average Jeffersonian Democrat has no say in the New Deal Communist international setup. He is as far from the White House throne as is the average Republican. His ideas are repulsive to the brainless, chinless so-called brain-trusters that are pulled from the free-thinking godless trash-heap in the educational world that even spurns the idea of a Supreme being.

With the aggression in control of government such as it is, politics must of necessity start with the government. It started in the letting of war contracts. It continued in handing out high army commissions of rank to those who had no more experience with the mouth of a gun than the butt-end. It continued by creation of hundreds of bureaus purposely formed to put more of the faithful on the pay roll at great cost to American citizens as income tax payers. It continues today from daily acts from both the male and female dictators in the White House. The war is planned on all fronts at home and abroad to span the next presidential election. It has its place in price-fixing under the ration system. It has its hand in the labor organizations close to the White House. It is politics both in and out of the war. Property, lives of human beings at home and at the battle front are rated as material assets in creating a new world policy with the sustenance of the nation, food, the gambling stake.

Yes, there is plenty of politics in the war. It has been there and it will be there as long as the war is used to enforce the godless ideas of the future and the economic security of the nation to create a world power for political domination, not for peace, not for happiness, not for prosperity but the greed of a Hitler or a Stalin for domination of human beings that they become enslaved to a doctrine far afield from that of our forefathers who fought the Revolution for economic freedom and the right to enjoy the fruits of their labor and have their homes, their churches and their schools under the protection of a government such as Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln prayed and fought for.

The New Deal is to tear down every vestige of our historical background. It would Stalinize every church if it dared at this day. Its purpose is to Hitlerize the worker at the factory bench and the farmer at his plow. It glorifies the odor of the distillery and the rumble of the beer wagon and welcomes a desolate society as the product of both because they are no longer to think or judge for themselves.

Yes, there is plenty of politics in the war but it is not partisan politics. While the nation and its sons bleed and sacrifice in the name of peace, the whole citizenship is sacrificed on the altar of a breed of moral stagnation. If you oppose what they have forced on you, you are branded as a Hitler sympathizer. The nation is being Hitlerized while fighting Hitler and citizens of America will become the Hitlerites of the New Deal, not citizens of their own country but subjects.

One of the complaints about price fixing we get from merchants and patrons of all stores is that no consideration is given quality. For instance one grocer states the government winks at lowering the legal grade of packing potatoes. A certain amount of No. 2 potatoes are mixed in No. 1 bags. This is a direct violation of the federal law as well as state law but permitted under the QEA. He says all kinds of cucumbers are now boxed, good and bad, and the grocer must take the lot whatever it is. Sometimes the loss represents 25 per cent of the original cost of the box. Tomatoes are being packed the same way. The public will not buy the low grade but the merchant must pay for them and then throw them out at a loss.

The same situation is lowering the price of cattle and hogs. The inferior grade are being purchased by packers because there is a safer margin of profit. This brings down the price of better grades of livestock on foot. Again the New Deal permits the public to be gouged. City folks have paid for and eaten more aged dairy steak the past year than for many years, due to the price control and foolish regulations. The Administration still stresses price lowering for political purposes and gives no consideration to better quality merchandise.

Down in Reading, O., near Cincinnati, a firm is rated as "closed" and faces charges of violation of the price regulations. The firm had been in business selling quality merchandise to a select trade for fifty years. The trade had been purchasing selected fruits, vegetables, meats, etc. It had as customers hundreds of the high salaried officers, workmen and even government agents—in a large war plant nearby. Selling only quality goods naturally means higher prices and no complaints came from the customers who wanted and were willing to pay for what they want. A New Deal smother "known ban" in prohibition days as a dry-rat detective filed charges against the ownership. It has been charged that competitive chain store rivals were in the background for the charges. The firm has closed its place. Even the hundreds of government and war workers cannot get quality produce. A few meals of New Deal second and third grade meat will do a lot of good toward backing a firm that faces charges because quality was placed over price.

"Dr. Gallup" is a widely known political observer who works in mysterious ways and for more mysterious than just love for information for the populace. Time after time we have asked citizens if they were ever queried by a "Gallup" investigator, or had been asked for a public expression by mail. Never once have we had an affirmative answer. While taking in a radio review of police court proceedings in a neighboring city some days ago one of the unfortunate that had...died too freely and fell into the clutches of the law, admitted he had arrived in town to be one who would give a "Gallup" test. The police judge gave the test it was something like $40 and thirty days in an institution where the inmates would readily sign on the dotted line for the New Deal. Now we read where a labor leader brands "Dr. Gallup" a fake. That is a slam for sure against the most outstanding New Deal institution in America. We would not intimate that every drunk you meet is a solicitor for "Dr. Gallup."

On a business trip to Cincinnati, Tuesday, we did not see a field of corn between Dayton and the Queen City along the New York Central. Low lands were covered with water and the hill sides were washed as smooth as cement pavements. Plowed land had a big growth of weeds and grass. We are informed there are but two fields of corn, complete crop, between Cedarville and West Jefferson along Route 42.

A couple of members of Congress, Dr. Smith, Ohio Republican from Marion, and Cong. Bradley from Penn., made a trip down to Hot Springs to take a peep at the Roosevelt-Wallace-Hull New Deal free trade world conference where the motto reads: "Come one, come all and get some of our lease-lend". Just to keep you informed, something the Democratic press overlooks daily, the foreign delegates are operating behind locked doors with 200 U. S. army soldiers on guard to keep news and radio reporters out. Even our farmer friend, Murray Lincoln, secretary of the Ohio Farm Bureau is a delegate and housed with the 100 cases of reported liquor to add to the "hour of charm," using a White House expression when Roosevelt invited members of Congress to his famous "beer and cakes" party.

Neither of the Congressmen could break into the conference because they might get an eyeful of some delegate who had hit the bottle once or twice more than he could stand. It is a sad commentary that we have wet confederates for food. Bear parties at the White House for Congressmen. Rubber trees for beer trucks and sugar for beer but only ten pounds of sugar for canning fruit for Mr. and Mrs. Common Citizen and their families. But Hot Springs is not the only damp spot on this side of the globe, nearly seven inches of rain has fallen in the Chicago area this month so far and rivers are at flood stage. Hundreds of thousands of bushels of grain on farms washed away or ruined and thousands of cattle and hogs drowned. Meantime not one mention or even suggestion that probably Dr. Roosevelt might try his magic wand and shoot the rain clouds some other direction, for instance in Texas where the wheat needs rain. If a better system of distribution of rainfall is needed we recommend placing the matter in the hands of V. P. Wallace, who advocated distributing the farmer's milk all over the world on the basis of one quart a day at our expense.

War workers may not have purchased what the New Deal calls their just share of the last war bond issue but the New Deal has another surprise in store for them and you and you and you. Mr. Morganthau came out this week asking Congress to increase income taxes. Here is his plan. For each man or woman earning as much as $35 a week to pay an income tax of $500 a year, less exemptions, which would be about double the $300 less exemptions you were required to pay on your 1942 income. The New Deal comes high in it is new and the majority voted for it. Ohio Republicans are advocating that federal income taxes be pegged at not more than 25 per cent of incomes. This will not suit spenders, Roosevelt, Wallace, Hopkins, McNutt and others who live on the fat of the land unmindful of rationing to others.

There was a New Deal method in holding up canning sugar to a late date so that southern strawberry consumers could not can the choice fruit. The lend-lease forced the crop off the market for let it rot in the fields where producers would not get one cent return. The berries were placed in barrels in a water bath of sulphur dioxide, a chemical preservative. The berries were sealed in the barrels and shipped to England for lend-lease. Canning companies and preserving companies were unable to purchase the berries for canning for civilian sale in this country. This means less spread for our city cousins and the school lunch boxes. First grade strawberries in Cincinnati on Tuesday were quoted at 50 cents a quart—said to be ceiling price. Cheaper grade berries were priced lower. In this section we are informed two things will hold back the strawberry crop. First the constant rains have damaged the crop. Boys and girls of teen age can get jobs at the government air field at $6 a day rather than pick berries.

The demand for feed has farmers worried, especially those that followed the government request for more pigs. Now Greene County farmers cannot find feed to fatten the pig crop. Flood waters cover 3 and one quarter million acres of the world's greatest food basket. Thousands of live stock have been drowned. Homes and barns are surrounded by water. Corn cribs, grainaries, some holding government grain are under water. Thousands of farmers are wiped out and it will be weeks before the water recedes in the rivers to drain the low lands. This will be too late for corn, garden crops, and probably soy beans. The poultry loss in the flooded territory is placed at millions of young and old chickens. A local dealer in need of commercial feed for local feeders was unable to get even a truck load of any kind of feed out of Cincinnati, Wednesday. The feed situation is really serious in Greene County. Poultry feeders say scarcity of feed and high prices will make that side of the farm section unprofitable this year.

dollars, and providing for fifty per cent increase in American Naval strength above that previously planned. This latest appropriation brings the total amount of money set aside for Navy expenses and operation since 1940 up to approximately ninety billion dollars. Much of the money appropriated cannot be spent for several years to come, and of course may not be spent at all if victory comes in 1944. The policy being pursued by the American government is, of course, to plan for a long war, while fighting and hope for a short one.

HOW TO FIX YOUR OWN APPLIANCE CORDS
Broken, worn, frayed, or loose cords which allow bare wires to come together will cause a "short circuit," which blows the fuse. While it's always preferable to get new cords and plugs, they are becoming scarce. These days almost every housewife has to be her own repairman at some time or another. By making simple repairs on your own appliance cords and plugs, you can save the time of service men so urgently needed for vital war work. It's easy to fix your own appliance cords. If you've never done it, the illustrations that follow will show you how.

RIGHT AND WRONG WAY TO UNPLUG A CORD
WRONG Unplugging a cord in this manner soon ruins it—it frays the cord where it enters the plug and pulls the wire loose from the screws on the inside of the plug.
RIGHT To remove a cord grasp it by the plug, not by the wire.

TO REPAIR A CORD FRAYED AT THE PLUG
To repair a cord like this, loosen the screws, and pull the wires out. Cut the cord above the frayed part.

REMOVE THE OUTER COVERING If it is a heating appliance cord, the wires will have asbestos covering. Remove this covering for one-half inch.
REMOVE THE HALF-INCH OF RUBBER INSULATION (under the asbestos covering) to expose the stranded copper wires. Scrape the wires lightly.
Twist the wires to keep the loose strands together. Re-insert wires in the plug. Carry each one clockwise around the prong to the screw—and clockwise around the screw.

RIGHT The finished result should look like this. Notice each wire carried away from the other, and around a prong. Notice there are no loose strands of wire to cause trouble.
WRONG Wires not carried around prongs first. Wire ends not twisted to keep strands together.
Iron plugs are rewired in a similar fashion. Right and wrong ways illustrated above.

TO REPAIR A CORD FRAYED IN THE MIDDLE
When a cord becomes frayed in the middle like this, tape up each wire separately, using electrician's tape.
Then tape the two together. Adhesive tape takes and cracks very quickly. Use electrician's tape.

At Regent, Springfield, "Crash Dive"

Starred in the film is Tyrone Power, in his farewell performance as a civilian. 20th Century-Fox has spared no expense in bringing all the thrills, adventure and excitement of life aboard the sub to the screen in Technicolor. The film is slated to open Thursday at the Regent Theatre, Springfield, Ohio. Out of a sea of ships with danger, Power, as a junior officer aboard a sub, leads his men on a bold commando raid. Again they face death aboard the depth-bombed steel fish. Operating from the great naval submarine base at New London, Conn., where much of the picture was made, these men strike ceaselessly at the enemy. They live up to their credo, as expressed by one of the men: "... And with terror and flame we shall hit the enemy where it hurts most... until he doesn't know his bow from his stern!" There is time, nevertheless, for those precious, stolen moments of love. And in this dynamic film, Anne Baxter plays opposite the dashing Power. Dana Andrews, who with Miss Baxter, heads the featured cast, is shown as the commander of the submarine—a two-tailed, hard-fighting sea dog who has worked his way up from the ranks.

REV. ALFRED ANKENY TALKS ON JAPAN

More than 150 farmers and their business and professional friends attended the May meeting of the Farm Forum at Geyers banquet hall Monday evening. The Rev. Alfred Ankeny, formerly of Beaver Creek Twp., gave a graphic picture of life in Japan and told of his arrest, trial and internment following Pearl Harbor. Rev. Ankeny went to Japan in 1914 and has been engaged in mission work there during the past 28 years. He was imprisoned from Dec. 8 to June 3 following the declaration of war. The Forum went on record as favoring the continuance of Central War Time. Motion pictures were shown by Mrs. J. R. Bryson, AAA fieldworker. The Rev. Ankeny, president of the Forum and brother of Rev. Ankeny presided at the meeting. The program for the June meeting will be under the direction of the New Jasper Twp. committee headed by Franklin Books.

4-H CLUB LEADERS AND OFFICERS TO MEET

All club officers and leaders are urged to be present. Group instruction for the different officers will be a part of the evening's program. Motion pictures on club work in Greene County and Ohio will be shown followed by a recreational period under the direction of the Clover Leaf Club.

PORTABLE SHEEP DIPPING SERVICE

Thurman Williams of Spring Valley is operating a portable sheep dipping outfit this spring and flock owners desiring to have their flocks dipped for ticks and lice should notify him or call this office. Since gasoline rationing limits his travel he would like to have requests well in advance. Ticks and lice are external parasites that live in the fleece, feeding on blood and lymph. The affected sheep lose thrift and vigor and the result is a lighter wool and weakened lambs.

MORE AND BETTER FENCE

To meet essential needs of the war food program, WPB has amended its order restricting production of fence to permit manufacture of five additional types of fence of heavier gauge. The amendment also provides for production of heavier barbed wire.

MORE NITROGEN AND POTASH NEEDED

Crops remove large amounts of nitrogen and minerals from the soil. Average yields of field crops take from every acre of cropland in Greene County annually 42 pounds of nitrogen, 17 pounds of phosphate and 52 pounds of potash. Against this annual removal of plant food by crops, an average of 17 pounds of nitrogen, 18 pounds of phosphate and 11 pounds of potash is returned to the soil in fertilizer and manures. This leaves an annual deficit per acre of 25 pounds of nitrogen and 41 pounds of potash. Obviously, our present system of farming is not putting into the soil sufficient nitrogen and potash to replace that removed by crops.

Under the poultry price ceiling order the maximum price that a farmer may charge an ultimate consumer for table dressed poultry either at the farm or delivered were recently announced.

The maximum price for Greene County for broilers and fryers up to two pounds dressed weight is 58.2 cents per pound. For roasters two and one half pounds and up the price is 55.8 cents, for hens, all weight, 50.4 cents and for stags and old roosters 50.4 cents.

CHECK TILE LINES FOR BREAKDOWNS

The almost continuous rainfall in recent weeks has focused attention on the need for additional tile drains or for the repair of those already laid. Collapsed outlets often start drainage water cutting back under the tile and there are successive cave-ins. The last 8 or 10 feet of the line should be built of frost proof material and a concrete or stone apron built to receive the water from the end of the line.

Lines which tap springs or permanent wet spots or which cross brush grown fence rows often become plugged with roots. Elm, willow, maple and elder roots are most likely to cause damage. Sink holes over tile lines indicate a section has broken down and the bottleneck reduces or stops flow of water in the line.

INSECTICIDE SUPPLY

Cryolite will be more plentiful than ever before and is recommended to replace rotenone for insect control of vegetables and ornamentals. Pyrethrum goes to the army for its use, it obtainable, is permitted in home gardens but is restricted in commercial gardens.

PETER'S COUNSEL TO SCATTERED CHRISTIANS

LESSON TEXT—Peter 1:1-12. GOLDEN TEXT—Honor all men. Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honor the King.—1 Peter 1:7.

Persecution for Christ's sake has been the lot of believers from the first century down to 1945. Some since it has been official, but more often unofficial, yet nonetheless severe and trying.

The manner in which Christians face their difficulties is one of the best testimonies to the reality of their professed faith. Sometimes, however, in the midst of their trials the enemy of their souls brings discouragement—and then they need the counsel and encouragement of others.

Such was the situation when Peter addressed his first epistle to the early believers who were scattered abroad (1:1). His counsel was just what they needed, and is equally helpful to us. They were to be

I. Separated As Pilgrims (1:1, 2:11-12).

Christians are in this world but not of it. They are passing through, wayfarers on their way to the eternal dwelling place of God. That does not mean that they are not interested in the welfare of those around them, or delinquent in sharing the responsibilities of life, but it does mean that they are to have the pilgrim's detachment from the things of the world and the flesh. In the days of Peter, membership in the church was not considered a normal or respectable thing. It marked a person as belonging to a hated sect, one which was falsely accused of many evil deeds. For example, Christians met at night, men and women together for communion service. Because they spoke of this as a "love feast," they were accused of immorality, and because they spoke of the body and blood of Christ they were said to be eaters of human flesh.

Christians must meet such malicious reports. How? By silencing their accusers by their good works.

II. Submissive As Citizens (2:13-18).

One of the hallmarks of Christian character is willing and gracious recognition of proper authority, whether it be in the state, in the place of employment, in the school, or in the home. He does this for the Lord's sake (v. 13), and even when that authority is in the hands of an unreasonable man.

This does not mean that the Christian is to encourage or countenance tyranny and oppression, but that he is to leave to the state and to his employer, even though the present representative be a hard, unjust man. In all well ordered society there will be proper and effective means to correct injustice. But in and through it all the Christian shows his faith by his behavior.

Observe that government, in the plan of God, is for the purpose of keeping order, encouraging the good, and punishing the evil (vv. 13, 14). The powerful influence of the Christian Church should keep it in that right channel, or bring it back if it has strayed. Always loyal and obedient, the believer should use his ballot and his personal influence to establish and support good government.

III. Suffering As Christians (2:19-25).

Christ is our "example" (v. 21). Since some have interpreted this word and the statement "that ye should follow in his steps" as indicating that we are saved by our imitation of Christ, it is well to point out that this would be quite impossible. We would have to begin where He began—He was without sin (v. 22). But we have all "sinned and come short of the glory of God" (Rom. 3:23). We need a Saviour—not an example as far as redemption is concerned.

In the ever present problem of suffering, we as redeemed ones do have Christ as our example. He who was sinless and without fault bore the shame and suffering of Calvary without complaint. When He was reviled He did not retaliate, when He was hurt He did not threaten revenge (vv. 22, 23), but was willing to leave the ultimate judgment in the hands of God, who will have the final word.

We ought to do the same when we suffer for Christ's sake. If we suffer because of our own sin or folly, we can claim no credit for bearing it patiently (v. 20). But when we have done well and then are persecuted, we have opportunity to show whether our profession of being followers of Christ really means anything. At this point some Christians lose their testimony and influence by a bitter, vengeful spirit.

These are trying days for the souls of men. In many parts of the world Christians are forced to drink the bitter cup of persecution. To the glory of God we record the fact that they are doing it heroically and in a true Christian spirit.
